SOME VOTERS SIGN OFTEN

Desiring to Assist at Primaries of Two Parties They Are Thrown Out of Both

FALSE SIGNING UNLAWFUL

Republican party workers were surprised yesterday to learn that the men who had signed applications to be enrolled in the G. O. P. had also signed applications to be enrolled in the Democratic party. The same workers became excited when they learned from the registrars that in cases where two applications were received from the same person both were thrown out.

The registrars told a reporter of the Farmer yesterday afternoon that they had no way of knowing that the same man had made two applications until after the time for the enrollment had passed. If one of the applications was fraudulent they had no way of telling which, and both would be thrown out.

The election laws, Section 10 of the Primary act, imposes a fine of $100 and 60 days in jail for signing the name of another elector to an application.

The registrars are not going to be caught as the registrars of Waterbury, who got a large number of signatures on both primary lists and did not know how to get them off legally.

Party workers who sign the names of electors to applications without first seeing them may prevent the elector from taking part in a primary, providing the elector has made application to be enrolled in the opposite party. And they make themselves liable under the law.

Some party workers believe that the registrars should visit an elector whose name appears on two applications. But if the registrars attempted to do this work they would not be able to get out their lists on time.

Very often an elector desiring to please both sides, signs all applications that are handed to him and his name never appears on any list, as the registrars do not keep a mugwump list.

UNCLAIMED SUMS

TOTAL $142,045

Bridgeport Savings Banks

Have 150 Unclaimed Deposits Which Average a Little More Than $20 Each.

The figures show that the amount of unclaimed savings bank deposits in the banks of the state is less than most people have supposed. The total number of unclaimed deposits is 3,228. Their amount is $142,045.

In Bridgeport banks are 150 of these deposits which average, somewhat more than $20 each. They are distributed as follows: Bridgeport Savings Bank, 72 deposits amounting to $2,634; City Savings Bank, 48 deposits amounting to $218; Mechanics & Farmers' Savings Bank, 9 deposits amounting to $48; and People's Savings Bank, 21 deposits amounting to $315.

On the head of their troubles T. B. Ford of Burns & Co., informed the collector rolled in. His said the Co. was not going to be able to get the same kind of pavement "Fairmont" brick to lay in South Main street.

The local contractor provided for the "Fairmont" people have sold out their supply and the Connecticut Co. is receiving bids upon "Mack" and "Fairmont" brick.

Joseph Quint and other residents of Lindley street appeared and asked that a relief sewer be laid in the street.

The local contractor provided for the health which said the sewer is urgently needed. Although it has been planned in the past to run a trunk sewer through Lindley street, it was never permitted to be laid.

Heve Main street, it was decided to permit Burns & Co. to lay 700 feet of 18x18 inch iron pipe in the street, at 80 cents a foot. Burns & Co. were the lowest bidders for a longer sewer through the street sometime ago, but the contract was not awarded. The proposed trunk sewer would cost $18,000.

PAVING FARCE NOW A "SCREAM"

Part of Main Street Work Goes Over Till Spring, Another Part May be Done

STREET TO STAY DITCH

Those who guessed that Main street will be torn up all winter guessed right.

The work of paving Main street, between Congress street and East Washington avenue, will be put over until next year. The paving commission decided last night to order the Connecticut company and the Bridgeport Hydraulic Co. to lay asphalt pavements over the trench dug by the water company and on that portion of the street which the street railway is required to keep in condition. Mayor Lee said that the kind of asphalt that is laid in Bridgeport will just about last until spring. Grooved rails and wood block pavement will not be down earlier.

The paving of Main street, between Bank street and Congress street will be done this fall, if grooved rails arrive in time.

The principal reason assigned for delaying the work north of Congress street is that the grade of the street must be changed. At the foot of High street it is proposed to raise the sidewalk about 13 inches in order to get the street at the same level as Golden Hill may be carried toward the river, through Lumber street.

The asphalt pavement between Bank and Congress streets will be laid by the Connecticut company and the Bridgeport Hydraulic Co. does not intend to disturb it this year.

The new pavement in Main street was proposed during the first year of Mayor Reynolds' administration, three years ago. It looks as if his successor would go out of office without the work being completed.

President Alexander Reed, of the U. S. Wood Preserving Co., was at the meeting of the commission last night to see why Bridgeport is so slow in having the blocks shipped. They were ordered last Spring. He said that the firm had several large orders, including 80,000 square yards for Market street, Philadelphia, and blocks for the new East River bridge.

He said that his firm would like to know when to start in to turn out the blocks. He said that the company had only 5,000 yards a day. He said that Mr. Elwell, of the Connecticut Co., had informed him that the company would have the blocks shipped here by September 1. President Rogers said the commission would say, during August, when it wanted the blocks.

Mayor Lee asked, "If there is any way to stop the cooing of the blocks laid in Bank street. Mr. Reed advised that sand be sprinkled on the blocks and rolled in. He said that the 'bleeding' of the pavement did not occur after the first year.

Mr. Reed said that if the city is to have a pavement, the company's plant he would suggest that someone be employed who made a business of inspecting. He gave the commission the names of several firms that do inspecting for many of the large cities. He said his firm usually paid the inspectors designated by the city. The Peck & Lines Co. was named.

On the head of their troubles T. B. Ford of Burns & Co., informed the collector rolled in. His said the Co. was not going to be able to get the same kind of pavement "Fairmont" brick to lay in South Main street.
